CONTINUOUS IMPROVEMENT OF TEACHING AND LEARNING QUALITY WEBINARS

TITLE/ TYTUŁ: 10 Activities for Incorporating Critical Thinking and Media Literacy Into Your Class

16/11 /2020

DESCRIPTION/ OPIS:

In previous webinars, we discussed how to recognize common logical fallacies and identify the language of bias in order to help our students improve their critical thinking and media literacy skills. This presentation will introduce a variety of ideas for developing media literacy skills using critical thinking. Since most educators don't have the luxury of teaching a dedicated Media Literacy or Critical Thinking course, we will review activities that can be used as short, stand-alone activities in the classroom. We'll also look at online games and quizzes that can be assigned as homework. All of the activities require little or no prep work, so participants can immediately try them out in their own contexts. Additional sources will be shared so that educators can expand their own knowledge and repertoire of media literacy and related materials.
